

RAPID GROWTH
AT BUENA VISTA

What Was Wilderness a Year Ago Is Now Thriving City.

Buena Vista, Texas, March 12.—West Texas progress was never better shown than in the growth of the new town of Buena Vista, on the route of the Orient railway. With the rails still 160 miles off, and the graders busy with their track laying, the settlers of the new irrigated tract have not waited for transportation, but have come in over land and begun farming and city building.

Beautiful Buena Vista, last year a place of mesquite and an unbroken wilderness, now boasts of the finest hotel in the new southwest, an experimental farm, where, under the direction of officials of the Orient railway, every crop considered possible in the southwest is being scientifically tested out, and new dwellings are going up every day.

Herald Is Popular.

The El Paso Herald, always in the van, comes to the new town, and is the popular paper. There are now some 50 families settled on the Orient railway irrigated land, and they are of an unusually progressive class.

A water users' association and an organization for the purchase and sale of fruit, supplies and produce have been formed and officers elected. Data is being gathered as to the method and proper amount of water to use in irrigating, and the community hopes to avoid the difficulties so often caused by inexperience.

Manager Hume has extensive hotbeds for the starting of tomatoes, cabbage and other hothouse plants. He has not limited himself to the farm crops in his fields, but has put out hundreds of roses, carnations, Mexican tube roses and all the old fashioned flowers.

An extensive park, in front of the hotel at Buena Vista, is now coming into an era of beautiful development that makes one wonder if, after all, people ever did call this a desert or a great staked plain.

El Paso for Market.

In practical crops Mr. Hume has planted alfalfa, sugar beets and a number of root crops. All the standard grains are being put in and a number quite unknown in the southwest. Asparagus has been found to do well and El Paso may look for the best Buena Vista quality in this tempting vegetable this season. Orchards and vineyards complete the setting of what the manager claims is already the prettiest spot in Texas.

Intensive farming is desired by the Orient railway, on account of the big tonnage resulting. The great canal system is now so nearly completed that the settlers are rushing the work of completing the clearing and planting of their fields.

Acres to Melons.

The irrigation company, formed by railway officials, is spending nearly $20,000 a month in the work of completing its system so as to turn the water on earlier than contracted.

A great deal is expected of the melon crop. The best Rocky Ford seed has been secured, direct from the original source. A watermelon seed or winter melon seed is ready to aid in the test to determine which melon El Paso and Pecos valley people find the most tempting on a summer day.

Herd of Antelope.

One of the attractions of Buena Vista is a herd of antelope, carefully protected and quite tame, which travels the tobacco grassed valley. This herd is said to be one of the largest remaining in the country.

MASTER IN CHANCERY

TO BE HERE MARCH 18

Former governor Joseph D. Sayers, who has been appointed master in chancery by federal judge T. S. Maxey to hear the El Paso water case, is expected here March 18.

Upon request of the master, reports of water rates charged in San Antonio, Houston and Denison, have been forwarded to him here.

EUCALYPTUS

The raising of eucalyptus timber for commercial purposes is today becoming one of the vital questions of the country, for years the hard wood problem has been getting more and more serious, and today we face the complete exhaustion of the supply within sixteen years.

It seems indeed providential that just at such a time there should come to the people a knowledge of the most rapid growing tree ever known. Trees that will grow as large in ten or fifteen years as oak, or ash, or hickory would in fifty years. As an investment no man can put aside a small amount of money that will bring larger and larger returns giving back over twenty dollars for every dollar invested.

The Porter Land company has ten thousand acres of the very choicest of these lands. Hundreds of acres already planted and having trees from one month to one year old and up. They sell on easy terms and without interest, then plant and cultivate and irrigate for two years, after which time the purchaser, beyond which time the trees require no further care, under favorable conditions a grove of trees from seven to ten years of age is worth approximately $4000 per acre, realizing $40,000 on ten acres, or a net profit of from $28,000 to $40,000 in from seven to ten years, and all the time your money as safe as if in government bonds.

Mr. A. F. Morrison, who has been well known in this city for many years, has recently returned from California where he made a very thorough investigation of this whole problem, visiting the lands of the Porter Land Co. and the San Joaquin Improvement Co. in the San Joaquin valley, inspecting the nurseries and transplanting of young trees to the groves, etc., studying conditions of soil and climate and the reliability of the company and its business methods and all the important factors connected with the whole question. It is a surprise to every one how a tree, growing more rapidly than any other tree known to man can produce such exceedingly hard and solid wood. Yet it is true.

These samples, with all kinds of Eucalyptus literature can be seen any day at Kettler Realty company's office, 305 Mesa avenue, third door north of the Orndorff hotel entrance. Mr. Morrison will be glad to see you and tell you more fully about it.

MORE SIDEWALKS FOR CARLSBAD

Council to Let Contract for 8750 Square Feet of Walks.

Carlsbad, N. M., March 12.—The decision of Judge Pope, sustaining the legality of the territorial statute providing for the construction of sidewalks in a town and assessing the cost to the abutting property, will result in Carlsbad having 8750 square feet of concrete sidewalks put down in the near future. At a meeting of the city council, to be held Monday evening, contracts for this amount of sidewalk will be let. It is one of the boasts of Carlsbad that it has more miles of good concrete sidewalk than any other town of its size in the southwest.

The Farmers' club, of Otis, held a successful meeting in the schoolhouse at that place. Cantaloupe growing was discussed at length by W. W. Calton, F. E. Bryant talked on the subject of dairying, and emphasized the needs of a creamery at this place, and the good results to the farmers where an institution of that kind is in operation. John Kuyts, a practical bee man, proved to the entire satisfaction of his hearers that bees were of more value to a farm than chickens. They are self-supporting; their product is of more value, and, also, they are a practical necessity in pollinating the fruit and alfalfa crops. The president, W. B. Wilson, gave an instructive and entertaining address on "Little Things of Importance on the Farm." He spoke of the importance of the careful preparation of the soil, the care needed in laying off the land for irrigation, the proper construction of headgates, the cleaning of ditches, the importance of preserving the tools and farm implements, etc.

Some shilling rights in the Hope community ditch sold at forced sale in this city for $2175 each, or $4250. They were purchased by W. J. Teavor, of Hope, as a portion of the estate of G. B. Bell, deceased. The sale was made by G. M. Richards, special master.

CLOVIS, N. M., HAS
A $10,000 FIRE

Frame Buildings to Be Replaced With Brick Structures.

Clovis, N. M., March 12.—Fire which started just as the whistle blew for noon in a small frame building used as a photograph gallery on West Grand avenue practically destroyed three adjoining frames, one of which was owned and occupied by the Clovis News.

Practically nothing was saved from the building in which was located a shoe shop, a tailor shop, a photograph gallery, and the newspaper. The loss was considerable as the building was badly damaged and most of the stuff was dragged out into the street only to be covered with water from the hose of the fire fighters, and trampled under foot. The total loss will probably reach $10,000, fairly well insured.

It is understood new two-story bricks will soon cover the site made vacant by the flames. The fire is believed to have started from a leaky gasoline stove.
